Dry Sunday In Cleveland.

Cleveland, O., Nov. 17.—The five police captains who are to be retired on Jan. 1 by the order of Director Dunn showed how to close the saloons in this city Sunday. Thirty arrests were made up to midnight, an unusually large number. There was a policeman stationed at the entrance of every prominent down-town saloon and no admittance was permitted.

Mild Sentence.

Madison, Ind., Nov. 17.—The jury in the case of Jacob Talman, a minor, for the murder of John Metzler, found the prisoner guilty and affixed a sentence of ninety days in the county jail for manslaughter.

DOING HIM GOOD

The President Is Luxuriating In a Bit of Unwonted Freedom.

GETTING A FINE REST

Not Since He Entered the White House Has Roosevelt So Thoroughly Enjoyed Himself.

Resumed the Chase After War Today After a Season of Sunday Quiet.

Smedes, Miss., Nov. 17.—Sunday was a quiet day at the president's camp on the Little Sunflower. There was no hunt, but the president and several members of the party spent a couple of hours in the morning rambling over the forest trails on their horses. Dinner was the chief event of the day. The menu included roast bear paws and possum and sweet potatoes. Dinner was served in camp style on a rough pine board table set up in the open air. Tin plates and tin cups were used. There were not enough knives and forks to go around and the colored cook announced to the amusement of everybody as the party sat down that on account of the scarcity of the articles, he had distributed them only to the "colonel" (as the president is invariably called in camp) and the "foreign gentlemen."

The president is enjoying his outing very much. He has not had three days of such complete freedom and rest since he entered the White House.

The insurgent newspaper men returned to the assault Sunday. Having been repulsed on the land side by Mr. Mangum's pickets, they resolved Sunday to try to effect an entry to the camp by the water route. A boat was chartered at Vicksburg, according to the story in circulation here, and it was reported to have left that place at 3 o'clock Sunday morning. The route of the expedition is to be up the Mississippi to the mouth of the Yazoo, thence up the latter river to the Big Sunflower. The distance, owing to the bends in the river, is over forty miles, but if the party started it did not reach its destination. The river men say there is now a sandbar at the mouth of the Yazoo which would stop any craft drawing over twelve inches.

The Chicago party which is hunting with Bob-Bob's pack of hounds seventy miles north of here is reported to have had better luck than the president's party, according to a message received here. The party during the last week bagged eleven deer and four bears. Holt Collier's dander is up and he vows that the "colonel" will not go home empty handed. His dogs had a good rest yesterday and were in fine condition to resume the chase this morning. The weather, however, is not favorable. It has turned colder and rain is falling.

A report circulated among the colored people that the president was coming to Smedes Sunday attracted about 1,000 negroes to the station. They waited here until dark before they would be convinced that the report was incorrect.

Didn't Make It.

Vicksburg, Miss., Nov. 17.—The small party who chartered a little boat to make a trip up the Sunflower river returned last evening, but whether they got within range of the bear-hunt camp could not be ascertained.

Finds Much to Command.

Washington, Nov. 17.—The annual report of General J. C. Breckinridge, Inspector general of the army, is a voluminous document and covers every phase of the military establishment and each department bureau and command in the army. There are more than fifty recommendations and suggestions relating to improvements in the army, most of which pertain to technical matters and minor conditions.

Much of the report necessarily has been covered in the reports of bureau chiefs and commanding officers.

General Breckinridge finds much to command in all branches of the service and reports progress everywhere.

It will be Odd Fellows' week in Indianapolis, and it is expected that over 1,200 wearers of the three-link pins will visit the city. Their program began today with the meeting of the department council, for which there were over 100 delegates. The grand encampment will be in session tomorrow and an attendance of 400 is expected. The grand lodge will meet, and it will be surprising if the attendance is not in the neighborhood of 1,200. The Odd Fellows continue to enjoy a healthy growth in Indiana.

An unusual feature of the investigation by the federal grand jury this time is that there are more postoffice robbers than counterfeiters. During the last few weeks there seems to have been an epidemic of postoffice robberies in spite of the vigilance of the federal authorities, while the number of counterfeiters has been gradually decreasing. There has been less counterfeiting throughout the country this year than ever before.

Terribly Mangled.

Hartford City, Ind., Nov. 17.—Samuel P. Suttles was killed and ground almost to a jelly by a train two miles east of this city. The head was entirely severed from the body and the body terribly mangled. Suttles was walking to Dunkirk on the track, and it is believed that owing to domestic trouble he committed suicide by throwing himself before the train.

High School Burned.

Marion, Ind., Nov. 17.—Fire last night destroyed the Marion high school building on Fourth street hill, entailing a property loss on the building and equipment of $85,000. Eight hundred pupils attended school in the building. The whole building is a total loss. The insurance is $45,000.

Mild Sentence.

Madison, Ind., Nov. 17.—The jury in the case of Jacob Talman, a minor, for the murder of John Metzler, found the prisoner guilty and affixed a sentence of ninety days in the county jail for manslaughter.

Miles' Movements.

Manila, Nov. 17.—General Miles visited Camp Vicars in Mindanao Saturday and the town of Zamboanga Sunday.

He will go to Iligan, Cebu, Leyte, Samar and southern Luzon before returning to Manila.

It Costs Some.

Manila, Nov. 17.—Auditor Lawshe figures up the losses to the Philippine treasury on account of the depreciation of silver since January, including the last decline, at $1,054,000 gold.

A PROFITABLE WORK

How Gen. Wallace Is Realizing Doubly On "Ben Hur."

Indianapolis, Nov. 17.—Unusual interest is manifested in the forthcoming production of "Ben Hur" at the English opera house in this city. Mr. Miller, manager of the theater, has received inquiries from all parts of the state within a radius of 100 miles of Indianapolis regarding seats, and the indications are that there will be a continuous round of theater parties.

The unusual interest is natural because of the fact that "Ben Hur" was written by General Lew Wallace, but aside from that there is a great desire to see the play because of the international reputation it has achieved.

The production is so stupendous that it requires a special train of several cars. The company comprises over 250 people, some of whom are the best-known players in the country.

Before "Ben Hur" was booked for Indianapolis it was necessary to enlarge the stage in order that the scenery might be used here as it was in New York, Chicago and other large cities.

An idea of the splendor of the performance may be obtained when it is stated that Klaw & Erlanger, the managers, paid over $20,000 to develop the chariot race scene. The horses alone cost $7,000. Since the play was first produced it is said that General Wallace has realized another great fortune in royalties.

Henry B. Gentry of Bloomington, known the country over now as the "dog-show man," is stopping at the Grand hotel for a few days. Everyone, in Indiana at least, is familiar with his success as a showman. A few years ago he was caring for another man's dogs and ponies, but now he has practically a monopoly of the dog and pony show business. He has four of the greatest shows of the kind in the world, and they have made him a mint of money. This has not been a good year, however, as he says it has rained too much. All circus shows have suffered on account of the weather. When there was no rain business generally was fine, but very few attractions will make big money this year. Gentry's shows will return to Bloomington Dec. 1 to go into winter quarters.

Senator C. C. Binkley of Richmond, who has been taking treatment for several weeks at Dr. Fletcher's sanitarium, is not expected to live much longer. It is said that he is gradually sinking. Senator Binkley was one of the Republican leaders last session, being a member of a number of the most important committees. When he was renominated he was in poor health, but his friends thought he had some hope of recovery. His death will mean that a special election will have to be held to name his successor. He is one of the leading attorneys of Richmond and generally held in high esteem.

Robert J. Tracewell of Corydon continues to enjoy a considerable show for the federal judgeship. He is not a candidate, but a number of prominent politicians and attorneys are trying to bring him out. It is generally believed that he would receive serious consideration if he became a candidate. As comptroller of the treasury department at Washington he has made a record that has attracted wide attention. He is one of the very few Republicans to be elected to congress from the counties that now comprise the Third district.

Twenty-four drums of 100 pounds of ammonia exploded before the reserve supply in the ammonia cistern was reached. That explosion almost raised the entire plant. The flames were broken through the fire wall which separated the hog house from the other buildings. Steadily the fire crept against the wind and through the office building, which was 120x60 feet and four stories high, but the pressure was inadequate. The floors and contents of the building burned like chaff. The roof soon fell and the fire burst through into the beef-killing house. At the same time the cattle chute ignited, and in five minutes fell with a crash.

Once in the beef-killing house, the flames began to dance madly. From this house to the olean building was only a step, and when the oils started to burn the fire presented a most spectacular scene. The big beef house containing 500 carcasses was the next to take fire, and the whole plant except the hog house was a lake of fire. The roar was terrible. The country for miles around was lighted up. Suddenly there was a terrific detonation, followed quickly by another and then another.

Twenty-four drums of 100 pounds of ammonia exploded before the reserve supply in the ammonia cistern was reached. That explosion almost raised the entire plant. The flames were broken through the fire wall which separated the hog house from the other buildings. Steadily the fire crept against the wind and through the office building, which was 120x60 feet and four stories high, but the pressure was inadequate. The floors and contents of the building burned like chaff. The roof soon fell and the fire burst through into the beef-killing house. At the same time the cattle chute ignited, and in five minutes fell with a crash.

While the last of the ammonia drums was going off a burning chute fell upon a bunch of live hogs and their squeals were added to the apalling chorus. After the fire got a good headway in the hog house the sheep and chicken packing plant, ice-houses and ice runways and smaller department houses were consumed in quick succession. The terrible roaring continued unabated, the high brick walls crumbled and crashed one by one, and the conflagration gradually ate its way through building after building. The fire department was helpless, as its apparatus was inadequate. The pressure was hardly strong enough to throw water to the roof of the pork house. When the walls of this department burst the firemen played their streams on the outbuildings until daylight.

The fire burned all day and in the afternoon there was another terrific explosion which threw bricks and pieces of iron for hundreds of yards. No one was hurt.

Kentucky Tragedy.

Somerset, Ky., Nov. 17.—John Sloan, an old citizen of this county, was shot and killed by James Pratt of Whitley county at the Clyer hotel early Sunday morning. Sloan retired in an intoxicated condition in a room occupied by several other men. Pratt aroused Sloan, telling him to turn over. This angered the old man and he advanced on Pratt, according to the statements of other men in the room, with a knife in his hand. Pratt drew a revolver from under his pillow and, after warning Sloan, fired, killing him instantly.

Crossing Accident.

Chicago, Nov. 17.—One man was killed and a dozen men, women and children more or less seriously injured in a collision last night between a Western avenue electric car and a Chicago, Burlington & Quincy freight train, at the Eighteenth street crossing. The motor and trailer which made up the electric train were crowded with passengers, and it seems a miracle that so many escaped instant death.

Rebels Routed.

Caracas, Venezuela, Nov. 17.—In a battle lasting five hours President Castro's first Lieutenant, Leopoldo Baptista, who sailed from Puerto Cabello with three warships and a force of 1,500 men, defeated the rebels and occupied the town of Coro, 203 miles northwest of Caracas. Revolutionists numbering 320 have escaped in the direction of Sabaneta, closely pursued by Baptista's troops.

Fatal Overdose.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 17.—J. Frank Bean, who has been employed in the art department of an afternoon paper here for some time, died Sunday from an overdose of morphine. His home is thought to be at Cumberland, Ind.

Two Will Serve Time.

Vincennes, Ind., Nov. 17.—Samuel Baker, white, and William Hargrave, colored, were sentenced to the penitentiary from here for from two to fourteen years, the former for house-breaking and the latter for shooting at the chief of police.

Verdict of Acquittal.

Greensburg, Ind., Nov. 17.—The jury in the Richey murder case returned a verdict of not guilty.

A Pound to a Grain.

Is what this grocer is telling an inquiring customer. "Yes, Madam, this is just one of the little details that have made Chase & Sanborn's Coffees famous everywhere. This can, as you see, is one of the pound cans that contains their Seal Brand Coffee. You will notice that the contents weigh exactly one pound to a grain. They have a machine that weighs this to the most minute accuracy."

Chase & Sanborn's High Grade Coffees.

Every bean of Coffee sold by Chase & Sanborn comes from coffee plantations that are famous for the crop of berries that they raise—then too, every grain is selected by experts, roasted by experts, packed and handled by experts, so it reaches the consumer as near perfect as it is possible. Insist on your grocer giving you Chase & Sanborn's Coffees if you would have pure coffee; that is the best, no matter whether you buy their Seal Brand or any one of their high grade coffees which come in richly colored, parchment-lined, imported bags. The fact that Chase & Sanborn's Seal and name stands behind their coffees is a sufficient guarantee of superiority.

BAD MAN RUN IN.

HE WAS A PAINTER.

A Drunken Prisoner's Excuse in New York Police Court.

It is characteristic of almost all the prisoners except the drunks that their chief concern is to secure a delay. They plead and beg for an adjournment, which they know will only postpone the inevitable for a day or two, and that although, through their inability to obtain bail, they will have to stay in prison just the same. The most plausible explanation is that they are all fatalists, always hoping that something unexpected may turn up to stave off the impending catastrophe. The drunks, on the other hand, are more eager to face the arbiter of their fate, knowing that nothing worse than a fine is likely to befall them and that the sooner it is imposed the sooner it may be paid or served off. And then there is the chance, if the magistrate is in good humor, that they may get away unscathed at once.

As a rule, although not seldom still in their cups, they are loath to make any incriminating admissions. "No, sir," protested a man who kept himself from falling over by holding on nervously to the bar; "I'm not drunk, 'cause no one's drunk who's not falling all over himself." Excuses of the most wonderful kind, some of them really ingenious, others merely ridiculous, are put forward when the futility of feigning innocence has been discovered. The cleverest explanation of that kind that I ever heard was advanced by a man who, when taxed with having displayed unmistakable signs of intoxication, simply replied that he was a painter by trade.

"That has nothing to do with your condition," said the magistrate. "Of course it has," rejoined the prisoner. "I was painting a barber pole and kept on twisting after the stripes until I got so dizzy that the cop thought I was 'boozey'."—Edward Bjorkman in Century.

LITERARY TREASURES.

Some Which Have Been and Some Which May Be Lost to View.

The world, we have been assured time and again, knows nothing of its greatest men. Perhaps it is equally ignorant about its greatest books. Are we quite sure that the idols in our literary pantheon are arrayed in their due order of precedence? The rules of precedence change, and who shall assert that those prevalent at any given time are the final ones? But, above all, are we quite certain that there may not be a notable work of genius lying unnoticed and unknown amid the wrecks of the river of time, waiting only for some lucky accident that shall reveal it in all its beauty to an astonished world?

Such accidents with such results have been frequent in the history of the past. Indeed such accidents have preceded or have revealed to the world no insignificant proportion of its now acknowledged masterpieces. The books of the Bible themselves have experienced the narrowest escapes from what might have resulted in their total loss. The most notable example is that of Deuteronomy, which disappeared from the Jewish world for over a century. The story of its rediscovery by the high priest Hezekiah during the reign of good King Josiah is set forth in the Old Testament.

Shakespeare was practically forgotten in the days when Addison wrote his "Account of the Greatest English Poets," with never a mention of the name of the very greatest, yet it was shortly afterward that Shakespeare was resuscitated.

Fitzgerald's "Omar Khayyam" and Blackmore's "Lorna Doone" dropped stillborn from the press and later won a sudden popularity by accident.—William S. Walsh in Era Magazine.

A PITHY STATEMENT.

Mr. Peter of the W. F. Peter Drug Co., Gives An Apt Illustration.

His Views on Vinol Worth Learning.

This is the Preparation That is Being Much Talked About.

A reporter asked Mr. Peter the same question that hundreds have asked him in the last few days. "Just tell me precisely, please, why Vinol is better than cod liver oil?"

Mr. Peter replied in his genial way, "You have given me rather difficult task. I can explain to you in a few minutes the advantage of Vinol, but to do it in a half dozen words would hardly be possible. Perhaps I can illustrate its value, however, in a brief manner. Suppose you had never seen a hen's egg. A man who knew of them should tell you to eat three every day. I do not say that you would, mind you, but I am inclined to believe at the start you would make an heroic effort to get away with the whole thing, shell and all. The meat of the egg would be what you needed, the shell rather superfluous. In fact, as a matter of nourishment not quite the thing for your stomach.

"There you are with cod liver oil. If you have a medicine, or rather in the liver of a live cod, there is a medicine known to be valuable for certain form of wasting disease, a great reconstructor. Doctors have administered it for years. They were like the man who had never seen an egg before. They gave it to their patients just as they found it, shell and all.

that is exactly it. The grease was us less and as bad for the stomach almost, as would have been the shell of the egg. The kernel, or the meat of the remedy, the vital principles that they were after, were contained in it. Science has stepped in and done exactly what the man with the egg might have done—found a way to separate the healthful interior from the worthless husk.

"Now we have the active medical principles of the cod's liver. We have thrown away the useless encumbrances that formerly encloaked it, namely, the objectionable fat. We have taken this extract, placed it in a delicious table wine, and there you are. Patients who have needed cod liver oil and could not take it have no trouble in taking Vinol. Why, you would enjoy drinking it yourself, so pleasant is it, if I did not tell you it was anything but a mild table wine. If you needed it, however, for a medicine, you would soon find it to be somethings different.

The medicinal properties of the cod's liver heal damage done by disease that are of a wasting nature, and the same principles give strength to the weakened digestion and enable the poor sufferer's worn out stomach to digest and obtain nutriment from everyday food. These same principles are also active disease annihilators.

"Yes, I am glad to have you come any time that you care to learn anything more about Vinol. It has already proved itself to be a winner."

Treatment Burns.

Many of the leading people in English society regarded Thomas Carlyle with a feeling almost akin to reverent delight when he chose to behave like an ignorant boor in their drawing rooms, even taking his seat, it is said, unbidden in the presence of the queen. This generation, however, has little patience with such eccentricities.

Was an English bishop who, when the historian Freeman had worn out his patience with his rudeness, introduced him to a waiting audience as "the distinguished scholar that so admirably describes and illustrates the savagery of our ancestors."

Drugs.

Cold water with ice in it is the thing to use when an accidental burn from acids or alkalies is encountered. Nitric acid gets split at times, or even vitriol may. A limb burned with acids must be plunged in cold water and kept there, so that the water may dilute the traces of the acid in the skin as much as possible. When acid burning causes injury, the water should be rendered alkaline by adding soda to counteract the acid.

CALIFORNIA SCENERY.

An Interesting Letter from Mrs.

Ressa Sweeny Grunig.

PACIFIC GROVE, Cal., Nov. 10, 1902
TO THE REPUBLICAN:

My trip through to California was one of interest and pleasure. Since my arrival I have seen most of the noted places of Central California. Spending some time in San Francisco, Oakland, San Jose, (the Garden City,) Palo Alto, Del Monte, Pacific Grove, and expect to visit many other points of interest before returning. Will mention some of the noted places.

San Francisco with its Golden Gate Park overlooking the great Pacific, with Sutro Heights, the grandest of natural scenery, and Sutro salt water aquarium, Seal Rocks with its many seals basking in the sunshine, and the grand cliff house overhanging the cliffs with the broad and peaceful ocean in playfulness at its base.

The most wonderful and natural scenery was seen while ascending to the summit of Mt. Tamalpais, elevation 2600 feet where also the weather bureau gives its forecast, and to make it all the more exciting wild deer were seen on the trip to the summit and return; deep canyons with their ever winding streams and changing scenery. One of the crookedest railroads in the world, a marvel of engineering ingenuity, eight and one-fifth miles long with two hundred and seventy-seven curves, if the curves could have been continuous there would be forty-two complete circles. The longest straight piece is but forty-three feet and strange to say is in the crookedest part of the road. Half way up the mountain the track parallels itself five times within a distance of three hundred feet forming a perfect double bow knot.

The most daring and exciting trip was to the Great Lick Observatory at the summit of Mt. Hamilton, more than four thousand feet in elevation. The main telescope is the largest in the world. The panoramic view of the valley and a peep through the big glass are incidents which are worth crossing an ocean or a continent to see. An average of 10,000 people visit the observatory annually. The only means of reaching the summit is by stage coach. There being over four hundred sharp turns around steep and deep canyons, where it requires a steady nerve and cool head of the driver and sure footed animals for safety to the traveler, and which one will never forget. One false move only hurl one many, many miles, below.

The trip to Congress Springs, near Saratoga, and Alum Rock park, both noted for various mineral waters, soda, magnesia, iron and sulphur and grand natural scenery which claims one admiration.

The most delightful drive was through the many, many miles of Santa Clara valley to the Stanford university where one views the finest chapel in the world, costing over one million dollars and two years will be required yet for its completion.

The trip from San Jose, (or garden city,) to Del Monte was through Santa Clara, Pajaro and Salinas Valleys, where sugar beets are raised and sent to Spreckels Sugar Refinery two miles from Salinas City.

Hotel Del Monte one of the finest and up-to-date hotels on the Pacific coast, with its garden (called the maze) and where one has to have a guide to find his way through.

Monterey is two miles from Del Monte where the barracks are being built by the U. S. government. There we also have a submarine garden. We were taken out in a glass bottom boat to view this wonderful garden with its coral reefs. More anon.

A Startling Surprise.

Very few could believe in looking at A. T. Hoadley, a healthy, robust blacksmith of Tilden, Ind., that for ten years he suffered such tortures from rheumatism as few could endure and live. But a wonderful change followed his taking Electric Bitters. "Two bottles wholly cured me," he writes, "and I have not felt a twinge in over a year." They regulate the kidneys, purify the blood and cure rheumatism, neuralgia, nervousness, irritable digestion and give perfect health. Try them. Only 50cts at W. F. Peter's drug store.

Mrs. Joseph Burkart arrived home from Cincinnati last night. She went there to attend the funeral of Mrs. Katherine Strausberger.

PANHANDLE WRECK.

Freight and Passenger Come Together Near Indianapolis.

A rather costly wreck occurred on the Panhandle near Garfield Park just south of Indianapolis Sunday evening. It was a collision between a passenger and a freight train. The passenger train was No. 32, in charge of Conductor W. M. Robertson, drawn by Engine 437, with George Frazier, engineer, and Lewis Grant, fireman, and the freight was an extra and Engineer Ritchie and Fireman Straw were in charge of the engine. The freight train was taking the siding to let the passenger go past. It was very dark and Engineer Ritchie supposed he was entirely off the main track, but in that he was mistaken as the front part of his engine had not cleared. The passenger came down the grade at about twenty miles an hour and struck the freight engine and turned it over. The passenger engine jumped the track and went down a slight embankment.

The engineer and fireman of the passenger train did not jump and were not hurt. Engineer Ritchie did not jump but his fireman did and struck a post inflicting some injuries. Ritchie was hurled from the cab by the force of the collision but was not seriously hurt. It seems remarkable that no one was killed.

All trains on this line were delayed several hours.

Her Marriage Vow.

A sensational comedy drama, which contains a story of strong human interest and equaling in scenic equipment and startling sensations anything that has heretofore been presented, is promised in "Her Marriage Vow," which will be seen at the Seymour theatre on Friday night. The play is a depiction of life among rail road people, as found in the eastern country, and contains many novelties as to incident and situation, that provide a continuity of interest throughout.

Killed a Steer.

Some careless and awkward hunter killed a two-year old steer on William Blau's place near Crothersville last week. The fellow that did it is saying nothing, therefore Mr. Blau may never find out who killed his steer. An occasional loss like this, the result of wrecker shooting, is what causes many farmer to post their land and keep the hunters out.

World's Corn Crop.

The United States is the greatest wheat growing country of the world. In 1902 we raised 656,782,039 bushels of wheat, one hundred million less than in 1901. Russia is the next country in the rank of wheat growing countries. Her crop this year was 784,521,720; in 1901 it was 427,780,447. France is the next, with 348,451,635 bushels in 1902, and 307,388,463 in 1901. Great Britain raised 56,205,837 in 1901 and 53,154,312 in 1902. Great Britain and France fail to raise enough wheat to supply their own demands. We find from the statistics that the United States raises more wheat than Great Britain, Germany, Belgium, Holland, Austria, Switzerland, Spain, Portugal, Italy, Greece, Denmark, Sweden and Egypt combined. The total wheat crop of the world, for 1902, is 3,794,431,757 bushels. The United States raised over 12 per cent of the wheat crop of 1902, and nearly 20 per cent of the crop for 1901.

Weather Records Broken

All weather records have been broken during the 24 hours ended at 8 o'clock, this morning. Two electric storms, one light, in the afternoon of Sunday, and the second very severe in the early hours of last night. The total precipitation for the day, recorded by the Weather Bureau gague, was 2.75 inches.

Only once in over twenty years—on November 8th, 1895, when the rainfall was 2.50 inches—has there been any November precipitation anything like this in amount. The total for the day was more than half the normal precipitation for the month. Thunder storms in November, as the records show, are rare occurrences here.

HE CURSED THE TOWN

END OF THE FIRST CAPITAL OF ILLINOIS PROPHESIED BY AN INDIAN.

The Destruction of the Town of Kaskaskia Was in Accordance With the Last Words of the Chief Who Died For Woman's Love.

Since the waters of the Mississippi river washed away the last vestige of Kaskaskia, the first capital of Illinois, an old legend that contained the prophecy of the total destruction of the once flourishing little city has been recalled. Kaskaskia was situated on a peninsula at the junction of the Kaskaskia and the Mississippi rivers, and in 1882 the Mississippi river cut its way through the peninsula, leaving the remnant of the town on an island. The water continued to wash away the rich alluvial deposits on which Kaskaskia was built until, late in 1900, the last foot of the land where the town once stood disappeared. This singular ending of Kaskaskia's once splendid ambitions has recalled to the superstitious the story that the town was cursed in the eighteenth century by an Indian who had been wronged by one of the leading citizens.

Jean Benard came to this country from France in 1683, bringing with him his wife and his 10-year-old daughter Marie. The family settled in Kaskaskia, where Benard established a merchandising business. The Frenchman soon became one of the most prosperous and most influential men of the town. Marie, his daughter, grew to be a beautiful woman, much courted by the most eligible young men of the new country. She was in no hurry to accept any of them, and her fame as a belle spread from Lake Michigan to the gulf of Mexico.
